BULLETIN.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—An important conference at headquarters has been called by Emperor William, presumably to discuss the submarine question, says the Exchange Telegraph company's Amsterdam correspondent today.

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, and high army and navy officials will attend, and it is reported, adds the correspondent, that the possibility of negotiations with neutrals for modification of the terms of the recent German memorandum will be discussed.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—[Special.]—I am able to state tonight, upon the highest authority in this country, the prospects for safeguarding American ships from German submarines are not at all bright. The German memorandum will be discussed.

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, and high army and navy officials will attend, and it is reported, adds the correspondent, that the possibility of negotiations with neutrals for modification of the terms of the recent German memorandum will be discussed.

While "The Tribune's" Washington correspondent last night was sending the details of Germany's offer to compromise on the U-boat issue, the Associated Press correspondent, for the first time free of the Berlin censor, cabled the inside belief held in the German capital that "it is impossible to avoid war with the United States."

COPENHAGEN, via London, Feb. 11.—Little hope of expectation prevails with the object of the campaign and in Berlin that war with the United States is avoidable or that a modus vivendi reconciling the policies of the two governments can be found.

There now is a desire on the part of the authorities and a vast bulk of the people to avoid actual hostilities in any way consistent with the general lines of the present submarine policy, but only in such a way.

Accordingly, instructions were given to the Associated Press has been ready, however, after the order of the February mission, to take the safe side when neutral vessels, particularly Americans, were in question, whenever possible. Enemy merchantmen, when recognized as such, were ordered to be sunk at sight, but neutral merchantmen were to be warned when such action, in their judgment, was consistent with the object of the campaign and the safety of their own ships.

ULTIMATE BREAK CERTAINTY.

It was realized, however, after the prompt and resolute stand taken by President Wilson that these orders could only be palliative and only delay, not avoid, an ultimate break. Also, that if President Wilson stood by his announcement that the destruction of American lives or ships would be regarded as an act of hostility, a caput belli must come sooner or later—probably sooner—on account of the number of Americans on enemy ships.

Moreover, there was the discretionary nature of the instructions to submarine commanders, who were informed that while the careful course toward neutrals was recommended and desired, they would no longer be subjected to punishment for departing from their former procedure of warning, if they found this advisable.

NOT TO MODIFY PLANS.

It is considered that the only possibility of the avoidance of hostilities would result from a modification of its standpoint by one or the other side, and so far as could be judged from the positive declarations of Alfred Zimmermann, the German minister of foreign affairs, and other officials before the Associated Press correspondent's departure from Berlin, there was no probability that Germany would give way this time or abandon the ruthless campaign now started.

German-American relations again have passed through crises apparently almost hopeless, but this time the crisis is more difficult than the former ones, and even the optimist can scarcely see any peaceful issue out of the impasse.

DEVELOPMENT OF CRISIS.

From a neutral cable office it now is possible to tell the story of the development of the present crisis on which the most rigid censorship has been applied in Germany.

To the observer in Berlin the approach of the crisis had been plainly and definitely evident since the rejection of Germany's peace overtures. Information as to Germany's submarine war and the form it would take was received by the Associated Press almost on the day of Ambassador Gerard's speech on German-American good relations.

A week later it was stated that a full decision on the situation had not been reached, but that the campaign would not be launched until after further consultation with Germany's allies and the receipt of certain information from Count von Bernstorff.

The final decision on an out and out submarine campaign of a so-called ruthless type apparently was taken at the grand Austro-German conference at German headquarters on the German emperor's birthday, though the Associated Press heard the statement that submarines departing several days earlier.

cool headed passenger on my boat took out a pocket notebook and carefully marked down a cross every time the submarine fired. His record shows that forty-seven shells were fired.

"The submarine was within 200 or 300 yards of the Mantola when an unidentified vessel began to loom up on the horizon. The submarine's commander decided that discretion was the better part of valor, closed his hatches quickly, submerged, and disappeared to the un-appealing relief of us all. The new arrival proved to be a British ship, which gradually picked up the survivors.

"We were in our boat about six hours. The Mantola sank in the evening."

Berlin Report on Raids.
BERLIN, Feb. 11.—(By wire) to Sayville, N. Y.—One German submarine in the North sea has sunk five British steamers of an aggregate of 14,000 tons, says the Overseas News agency.

The Neue Zürcher Zeitung, the news agency adds, reports from The Hague that Feb. 9 was a record day in the submarine warfare, as thirty-five vessels were sunk.

A dispatch from Christiania says that on Feb. 9 30,000 tons of shipping were destroyed by German submarines.

ONE AMERICAN ABOARD.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—One American, Earl Rice, ship's surgeon, of Portland, Ore., was on board the British liner Mantola, torpedoed off the Irish coast on Feb. 8. Consul Frost at Queenstown cabled the state department today that the steamer was torpedoed "without warning," but that everybody escaped except seven Lascars.

Mantola Was Armed.
Consul Frost's message, dated yesterday, follows:
"British India liner Mantola, 8,000 tons, London to Calcutta, general cargo, crew 160, passengers nineteen, torpedoed without warning 135 miles southwest of Fastnet at 1:40 p. m. Feb. 8. Moderately rough sea. One American aboard, ship's surgeon, Earl Rice, 628 Salmon street, Portland, Ore. All crew and passengers saved except seven Lascars drowned through mismanagement.

"Submarine commenced shelling Mantola at 4,000 yards and approached to 300 yards when admiralty vessel hove in sight, causing submarine to submerge instantly. Survivors landed this morning, Feb. 10. Mantola carried 4.7 inch gun and two gunners."

DANES ANGERED OVER SINKING OF THE LARS KRUSE

BY HUGO LINBERG.
(Special Cable to Chicago Tribune.)
STOCKHOLM, Feb. 11.—Great indignation is expressed in Denmark over the sinking by a German submarine of the Lars Kruse, loaded with foodstuffs for the American Belgian relief commission. The press and public alike are angered over the incident, which it is asserted easily could have been avoided.

The newspapers are sponsors for the story that negotiations between the Swedish and German governments are in progress that may end in communications through the German blockade with an English port similar to the connection offered by the Germans to the United States and Canada.

Negotiations between Sweden and Great Britain and Germany with a view to recommending voyages of Danish-American liners also are in progress.

The question of relieving from coins to relieve the scarcity of copper money soon will be taken up by the riksdag, it was announced officially today.

SHAKEUP DUE IN AUSTRIAN ARMY?

AMSTERDAM, via London, Feb. 11.—According to the Leipzig Neueste Nachrichten's Vienna correspondent, important changes may be expected in the Austrian army command. Gen. Crobatin, the correspondent says, is expected to resign from the war minister's favor of Gen. Baron von Aussenberg, a former minister of war. Archduke Frederick, commander in chief, is expected to be replaced by Archduke Eugene, commander in chief of the forces operating against Italy, and the latter by Field Marshal Baron Franz Conrad von Hotzendorf, who is to be entrusted with the organization on a new basis of the war against Italy.

CADETS RESENT SONG IN GERMAN

New York, Feb. 11.—(Special.)—The singing of German songs during a meeting of the labor forum in Stuyvesant High school today so angered twenty-five cadets of the school, training corps that they howled down the singer and shouted patriotic expressions until they were ordered from the room.

"The boys, in uniform, were headed by Capt. Alfred D. Reuterhan of Company A. They had just taken a seat when Alphonse Grien mounted the platform and began to sing in German. He had progressed only a few bars when one of the boys yelled, 'He's a Socialist!'

TORPEDO-PLANE MAY MAKE U. S. NAVY SUPREME

Yale Men Back Invention Neglected Five Years by Government.

New York, Feb. 11.—(Special.)—Plans for a weapon that will challenge the present dominance of the submarine in sea warfare have been for five years unused in possession of the United States navy.

It is a weapon which the inventor, Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, believes would have decided the greatest naval engagement of the present war, the Jutland fight. And, it was further revealed today, private citizens, instead of the United States navy, are planning to put into operation this device as an essential preparation against possible war.

Torpedo Launched by Aviator.
Simply expressed, the idea is this: An aeroplane or hydroplane carries beneath it a Whitehead torpedo. The aviator, when six or seven miles away from the battleship he wishes to destroy, volleys in the direction he wishes to fire. When comparatively a few feet above the water he fires the torpedo toward the foe.

The apparatus makes a trained army pilot with a $20,000 airplane a worthy foe for a $20,000 dreadnaught.

Admiral Fiske has talked with naval officers and aviators alike. The navy men have declared that guns fired from a rolling warship never could hit a speeding torpedo plane and aviators have said that they would find no difficulty in doing the work.

Yale Men to Test Weapon.
Whether or not the navy tries the invention, it will be tested. The first aerial trial—a group of young Yale men, headed by F. Trubee Davidson, son of Henry P. Davidson of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.—have decided to have a torpedo plane constructed at once. Tests will be made at Palm Beach, the headquarters of the unit.

Glenn L. Curtiss, when told of the invention, is reported to have said he could build in three months a flying boat able to carry two torpedoes, either one of which could be released without loss of balance.

Gives U. S. Magnetic Torpedo.
Williston, N. D., Feb. 11.—A self-guiding torpedo, based on magnetic control against an enemy which would have little chance for defense, has been invented by Charles J. Field of this city, a grandson of Cyrus W. Field, who laid the first trans-Atlantic cable.

Mr. Field in announcing his invention said that it had been turned over to the United States government. Recent official statements in reply to Field's declaration of the device with seven bits out of eight attempts, where the ordinary torpedo has a much smaller average of hits.

CHINA WILL NOT YIELD SEA RIGHT; WARNS GERMANY

PEKING, Feb. 9.—The note handed to the German minister by the minister of foreign affairs in reply to Germany's declaration of the assumption of unrestricted submarine warfare, was made public today. The text of the note follows:

"The new measures of submarine warfare inaugurated by Germany are impeding the lives and property of Chinese citizens even more than the measures previously taken, which have already cost China many lives and constitute a violation of international law. The toleration of their application would introduce into international law arbitrary principles incompatible with legitimate intercourse between neutrals and belligerents.

"China, therefore, protests energetically to Germany against the measures proclaimed on Feb. 1, and sincerely hopes that the rights of neutral states will be respected and that the said measures will not be carried out. It is contrary to expectations, this protest being ineffective. China will be constrained, to its profound regret, to sever diplomatic relations. It is unnecessary to add that China's action is dictated by a desire for further peace and the maintenance of international law."

Gerard Greeted by Swiss As Party Crosses Border

ZURICH, via Paris, Feb. 11.—The American ambassador, James W. Gerard, arrived at the Swiss boundary at Schaffhausen at 4 o'clock this afternoon. He was met by the American minister to Switzerland, Pleasant A. Stovall, and representatives of the Swiss army. A military guard of honor was in waiting; and a big delegation of citizens greeted the former American ambassador to Germany.

The trip from Berlin was made without incident, although some curiosity was displayed by those who gathered along the route.

Mr. Gerard arrived at Zurich with about 120 other Americans, including at first to remain there, but when he was assured of accommodations at Bern he left immediately for that city. He will remain in Bern for two or three days arranging for his trip to Paris.

Praise for His Aids.
The ambassador passed from one to another of the embassy clerks and stenographers who are remaining in Berlin and said:

"Good by, you have done wonderful work during two hard years.

Then the last handclasp was given. While the women wept and the men raised a cheer the ambassador leaned from the window of his car with his hand uncovered and waved a farewell. There was a flutter of salutes from the military men and cries of "We expect you back soon" from the Americans who remained here, and the long train, with its passenger list of 120, vanished at the end of a vista of switchlights.

Departure Is Quiet.
BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT. (Special Cable to Chicago Tribune.)
COPENHAGEN, Feb. 11.—The departure last night from Berlin of Ambassador Gerard was distinguished by German punctuality and formality.

At 7:30 o'clock in the evening the lights vanished, one by one behind the great windows of our gloomy embassy building in the Wilhelmstrasse. First the state apartments grew dark, then the private apartments on the third floor, and finally the offices on the ground floor.

The doors opening on the paved court of the embassy were thrown open by footmen and the ambassador's automobile glided out into the dripping plaza, where the bronze statues of Frederick the Great's favorite generals stand sentinel.

The ambassador glanced toward the dark court of the chancellor's palace across the way as he sank back in the car and the automobile slid across town toward the Anhalter station.

Police Guard Depart.
The police men who since the fatal Sunday have been standing guard before the embassy marched away to their barracks, the big doors of the closed building became dark, and a difficult and troubled chapter in American diplomacy was closed.

An American political reporter standing by said: "There goes the next mayor of New York."

At the Anhalter station the ambassador dismounted at the royal entrance, where delegations from the foreign office and the war office and the Spanish minister and his suite and many Americans received him. The platform was lined with officers, soldiers, and police, and perfect order and the best of feeling prevailed. Admittance to the platform was only by passes issued by the foreign office.

Cannot Avoid War With U. S., Berlin Belief
lier for their stations were provided with contingent orders for this eventuality.

The censorship, however, shut down lightly on any definite statements or predictions of the approaching crisis. All dispatches going into the subject in detail, however, were either suppressed entirely or references to coming events censored out of them.

Ambassador Gerard, of course, was aware of the current gossip and probably was able to advise the state department of the possible turn in events. But he was given no intimation from official sources.

The ambassador and the American government therefore were faced with the announcement of a fact accomplished when on the afternoon of Jan. 31 Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, gave out the news that a relentless submarine campaign would begin immediately and read to the committee the text of the memorandum on the prohibited zone and the note to the United States documents which reached the American embassy only several hours later.

No Chance for Easy.
There was, therefore, no opportunity or an occasion, as in the days of the Sussex trouble, for any negotiations to prevent the crisis or an attempt to stave off the coming break between the two countries. There was no chance this time for discussion with the chancellor or an interview with the emperor, such as served to save the day at the time of the Sussex note.

Nothing could be done except to report to Washington the developments which appeared in the press of the world before the embassy dispatches had started from Berlin and await the anticipated explosion.

This came in the shape of a rupture of relations earlier than even Americans had expected, and certainly with a promptness which astonished, and perhaps even dismayed, the German official world, prepared though it was for energetic American action.

Aims at the Germans.
Just what results the German experts expect from the U-boat campaign is uncertain, but in conversations in German naval circles the belief was expressed that if it succeeded in raising the monthly sunken tonnage to 1,000,000 tons, in addition to having a deterrent effect on 3,000,000 tons of neutral shipping plying to British ports, the campaign

Energetic Protest Hits Food Supply Peril in U-Boat War.

PARIS, Saturday, Feb. 10.—The Swiss federal council, in its reply to the German note on the new submarine campaign, enters an energetic protest against the announced blockade and reserves all the rights of Switzerland as a neutral, according to the Havas agency's Bern correspondence. It expresses confidence, however, that the German government will take all necessary measures to assure the protection of Swiss interests.

The council declares that "the imperial government cannot fail to recognize that the measures announced by this empire constitute an attack upon the right of peaceful commerce which in conformity to principles of international law belongs to Switzerland, in its character as a neutral state."

Serious Danger to Swiss.
"In fact, the blockade of nearly all ports susceptible of being utilized by Switzerland presents a serious danger in the matter of our provisioning in food products and in raw materials, as well as with respect to our exportations over the sea."

"Even if by friendly agreement with the French government, the utilization of the port of Cote, exempted from the blockade, is rendered possible, maritime transport would be restricted to a degree which would cause sensible injury to our national economy."

"The maritime blockade by the government of the German empire follows a series of measures taken during the war by both parties of belligerents in opposition to the law of nations and international agreement, by which our liberty of action in economic matters is already restricted and against which we have vainly raised our voice."

"In such circumstances, this blockade is all the more pressing and more weighty with consequences. The federal council itself, therefore, obliged to protest energetically and to make all reserves which would cause sensible injury to our national economy."

Swiss Advance Notice.
The federal council gives notice in advance of all legal reservations if it happens that the means put into effect by Germany and her allies are applied to the destruction of Swiss interests or property. The federal council, however, does not doubt that the government of the empire will do all that is necessary to assure in the measure possible the security of Swiss interests and spare the painful consequences which could arise from the blockade for the economic life of the Swiss."

The same note, adds the correspondent, has been addressed to the government of Austria-Hungary.

Mitchell, Mrs. Frederick Rawson, Miss Mary Anderson, Mrs. Arthur Dean, Miss Mabel Adams, Mrs. Homer Stillwell, Miss Edna Dixon, Miss Grace Dixon, and Mrs. William Rehm.

KROONLAND SAW STRANGE CRAFT ROAMING SEAS

Passengers Also Tell of Witnessing U-Boat Sink a Neutral.

New York, Feb. 11.—Two mysterious vessels, one said to have been a submarine, the other having every appearance of being a raider or submarine supply ship, were sighted in midocean Monday, Feb. 5, by officers and passengers of the American liner steamship Kroonland, which arrived here today from Liverpool.

On Feb. 1, one day out from Liverpool, those on board declared they witnessed the destruction of a Dutch freighter by shell fire from a submarine. The Kroonland then was about eleven miles off the Irish coast. The crew of the ship took refuge in a lifeboat and were towed away by the submersible, it was said.

Ship Sinks in Five Minutes.
The Kroonland was within five miles of the Dutch steamer, and its crew and passengers declared they saw the submarine come to the surface, approach the freighter, then sink it by three shots from a deck gun. The Dutch ship went down in about five minutes. Capt. Barman of the Kroonland said he was getting ready to go to the rescue of the crew when he saw that the U-boat had in tow the one lifeboat in which the crew had taken refuge. The submarine, according to Capt. Barman, left the scene at a high speed—"so fast," he added, "that the trailing boat was almost lifted out of the water, and the poor wretches were undoubtedly being thoroughly drowned."

Nine Other Ships Seen.
While the Dutch ship was being destroyed, nine other ships could be seen closer in shore, but no war vessel was in sight. A British cruiser, however, had been sighted earlier in the day.

Officers of the Kroonland said the submarine sighted Feb. 5 approached within a couple of miles, remained in sight for about fifteen minutes, then disappeared.

Two hours later, the officers added, a one funnel ship painted black or some dark color appeared. No signals were given, and those set by the Kroonland were unanswered. For some time the mysterious stranger kept a course parallel to the Kroonland, then veered sharply, swung in a circle away from the American liner and disappeared. The vessel did not answer any description of British or entente allied ships.

FALSE U. S. NEWS CAUSED GERMAN HOSTAGE THREAT

Demand Drastic Treaty Amendment Until the Horizon Cleared.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—(By wireless to Berlin.)—With reference to the present condition of German-American relations, the German foreign secretary, Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, made the following statement today to the Overseas News Agency:

"We now have practically no speedy or reliable information about the United States. The best proof of this is furnished by two wireless messages which were sent Feb. 5 by the correspondent in the United States of the German News Agency and which arrived yesterday. The contents of these two short messages were astounding, even sensational for they told that the United States government had not confiscated German ships in American ports nor informed German ships residing in the United States.

"Until yesterday morning all we knew about these matters had passed through English channels, and the gist of these reports was that the United States government actually had violated the property and liberty of German citizens.

Say British Adulterate Truth.
"English agents by thus adulterating the truth did not intend, of course, to slander the United States. Their intention was to create public alarm in Germany, and thus cause outbursts of popular indignation and perhaps even prompt the German government to rash actions based on error.

"All this there would have been reported in exactly the same way that is, without distortion to the United States by the same British agencies. If they had succeeded, these British agents would have saddled Germany with the responsibility and fault in the eyes of every candid but honest observer. However, during two years and a half we have been practically cut off from reliable and speedy communication with the United States. During that time we have learned to appreciate British reports at their true value. We therefore suspended judgment and awaited the real reports which now, after all, have arrived."

Tells of False News.
COPENHAGEN, Feb. 10, Via London, Feb. 11.—The German government's attitude in endeavoring to induce Ambassador Gerard to sign a protocol reaffirming the old time treaty with the United States regarding mutual protection of nationals in case of hostilities and the hints of possible detention of American newspaper men as hostages were undoubtedly influenced by alarmist dispatches from the United States regarding treatment of German citizens and property there, the Associated Press correspondent, who left Berlin Saturday morning and who now has reached Copenhagen is able to state.

As soon as reassuring advice were received from the United States, and as soon, too, as the German government were that the attempt to negotiate a protocol re-affirming the treaty of 1795 with additions and expansions had failed, it gracefully receded from its position, and nothing further was heard of newspapermen as hostages.

Contained Drastic Clauses.
The protocol, which Count Montgelas, head of the American department of the German foreign office, submitted to Ambassador Gerard on the part of Foreign Secretary Zimmermann, contained, besides a formal re-affirmation of the treaty provisions of 1795 and 1828 regarding mutual treatment of nationals caught in a belligerent country in the case of war, a number of important additions and expansions.

It provided that merchants should be allowed to continue their businesses and retain their residences until the end of the war, unmolested; that no law affecting the validity of contracts should be applied to Germans in America or to Americans in Germany, and that all patents should be inviolate—a question of importance in view of the high value if not the indispensability of certain German patents in the manufacture of munitions and explosives.

Would Preserve U. S. Holdings.
Quite as trenchant in its bearing on the pending problems was the provision of an instrument which Ambassador Gerard was asked to sign specifying explify that not only enemy property is such should be exempt from seizure or restrictions in its use beyond those applying to all property, but that enemy ships in ports of the opponent should not be seized during the war nor forced to leave port unless to sail under safe conduct and guarantee of exemption from seizure by the allied belligerents for a home port.

Provision also was made for a safe conduct when it was necessary to move ships from one port to another in the same country.

The protocol forbade explicitly any interference or restrictions upon the liberty of movement of enemy nationals within the limits of the opponent country and for confirmation of certain articles of The Hague conventions, particularly as to treatment of the personnel of enemy merchant ships captured or caught within an opponent country.

Gerard Refuses to Sign.
Ambassador Gerard's refusal to sign the treaty after he had ceased to perform his ambassadorial functions or to telegraph for instructions unless he was permitted to use code led Count Montgelas to hint that a refusal to sign the protocol might materially affect the status of Americans in Germany and the privilege of departure, mentioned specifically, of the American correspondents whom Ambassador Gerard desired to take out with him and whose fate was apparently thought to carry particular weight in American public opinion.

This intimation of the possibility of detaining Americans, even under the status of a rupture of diplomatic relations, not war, and the use of newspaper representatives supposedly important pieces upon the diplomatic chess board caused Mr. Gerard to declare roundly that he could not be a party to "any such pressure" and that he doubted whether any of the newspapermen could be "sandwiched" or influenced in any way by considerations of personal safety or convenience and that he must persist in his earlier expressed standpoint regarding these negotiations.

From that point nothing further was heard of the protocol or of the possibility of detaining Americans.

Influenced by U. S. Dispatches.
The German government's attitude undoubtedly was influenced by the press dispatches with which the German newspapers were then being flooded asserting that German ships were being seized and their crews interned in the United States, these dispatches being virtually the only news which the government was then receiving, no official communications from Count von Bernstorff having come since a time several days before the rupture of relations.

As soon as authoritative information was received in direct dispatches that the reports of the confiscation of ships and the internment of sailors were incorrect and that no obstacles were being placed in the way of Count von Bernstorff's departure under a safe conduct, arrangements for the issuance of passports to the ambassador and his suite began to proceed with marked acceleration.

'Farmer Drive' by Navy For 25,000 Men Opens Today.

With recruiting in practically every large city in full swing, Uncle Sam is going to appeal to the farmer to do his share in building up the navy.

Orders from Washington to recruit the navy up to full war strength will go into effect early today with special recruiting parties scouring the entire nation. A headquarters traveling party will leave Chicago today as one of the traveling units and will comb thoroughly northern Indiana and southern Illinois.

It developed yesterday that the navy department had sent scouts ahead of the recruiting parties to placard the countryside, appealing to the farmers to join the navy.

The recruiting officers starting out this morning will travel in groups of three and four. In every place where there are no permanent recruiting stations special emergency depots will be established. These depots will be maintained in the respective cities, towns, and villages for several days in each case.

The "farmer drive" is one phase of the navy's plan to get immediately 25,000 more men, bringing the service up to the strength required to man the present warships for war service.

The divisional headquarters recruiting station at 130 North Fifth avenue and substitutes remained open all day yesterday. No men were accepted because it was Sunday, but many applicants will return this morning.

TWO PLANS FOR ARMY TRAINING NOW BEFORE U. S.

Baker Spurns Staff Idea of 500,000 Regulars
as Too Big.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—(Special.)—With the introduction of the Chamberlain universal service bill, yesterday two concrete plans to put into operation in the United States the principle of universal military training have been laid before the people.

The other plan is that of the army general staff, which Secretary of War Baker has disapproved and sent back to the staff with a recommendation for its revision downward in the number of men involved. This plan will be formally submitted to congress, it is said, as a staff plan, and not as a department plan, if the changes are made to please Mr. Baker.

For Big Regular Army.
The staff's plan provides a regular or professional army of 500,000 men and the training of 900,000 men annually through requirements of universal service. A one year period of training is called for.

The regular army under the general staff plan would involve 14 regiments of infantry, 35 regiments of cavalry, 70 or more regiments of field artillery, and other troops.

Operations of this plan would furnish 1,400,000 trained men at the end of one year and make possible an expeditionary force of 1,000,000 men with the nucleus around which to build a second line defensive army.

Must Reduce Size.
Secretary Baker is said to have told the staff that material reductions must be made both in the size of the proposed professional army and in the period of training recommended for civilians before he would sanction the measure.

While the Chamberlain and staff plans differ in many important respects, the underlying aim in both is the same. That is to establish in the United States the principle of universal military obligation without at the same time creating conscript armies and military autocracies similar to those in Europe.

The Chamberlain bill and the scheme of the general staff both agree that army training should be given to every boy when he reaches the age of 19. The former proposes that this training shall last for six months, while the latter recommends a period of one year.

Staff Bill Provides Pay.
The Chamberlain bill, while authorizing the government to pay all expenses of the recruits, makes no provision for pay, while the army experts would pay the men undergoing training at the rate of $30 a year.

Approximately 1,000,000 boys every year reach the age of 19 according to the figures of experts, and probably 50 per cent of these would be rejected on account of physical or other reasons.

Under either system there would be trained annually in the neighborhood of 500,000 men. After either system had been in operation for ten years there would therefore be in the United States nearly 5,000,000 men who have undergone a rigorous course of military training.

(BY SIR ERNEST SHACKLETON.)
(Copyright, 1917, by Duff Publishing Company (New York, N.Y.))
WELLINGTON, N. Z., Feb. 10, via London, Feb. 11.—I have arrived here from my rescue journey to Ross sea, whither we sailed on Dec. 23 last, to help the remainder of my antarctic expedition party marooned there through the breaking away of the Aurora from its moorings May 6, 1915.

As I have already reported, Capt. Mackintosh, the leader, Richard Hayward, and the Rev. Spencer Smith have perished. I deeply deplore their deaths. They succumbed after great privations. They displayed heroism and fortitude in a continuous series of misfortunes. The rest of the party are all well.

Learn of Others' Loss.
On Jan. 10 we reached fast ice in the Aurora five miles from Cape Evans. We picked up the survivors there and learned of the loss of the leader and his two comrades eight months previously.

While we recognized the hopelessness of finding any traces of Mackintosh and Hayward, who fell through sea ice in this vicinity, the Aurora was kept in the neighborhood until the 19th of last month. During nine days a careful examination was made of McMurdo sound as far north as Granite harbor.

No Traces Are Found.
I landed, accompanied by Capt. Davis, with search parties, but discovered no trace of those comrades. Neither, while close in to the coast, was anything seen from the ship.

When the Aurora broke away in May, 1915, two parties, consisting of six men, who had gone south in January to lay depots had not returned to Cape Evans and no signals had been received by the four scientists remaining at Cape Evans from Hut point, where the party should by that time have arrived. Thus, when the Aurora arrived here after its long drift in the pack it brought no news of them.

PLAY NEW 'O, SAY' IN LONDON HALL

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Sir Henry Wood has prepared an orchestra version of the "Star Spangled Banner," and it was performed for the first time by a Sunday concert society at Queen's hall yesterday. The American air has been given a vivid orchestral coloring by the master hand of Sir Henry, and it forms a notable addition to his remarkable collection of national hymns to which the war has drawn attention.

Chicago Pastors Voice Patriotism from Pulpits

The war crisis with Germany and the promises to Lincoln's birthday stirred many ministers in Chicago pulpits yesterday. At expressions of fervent patriotism. The Chicago Church Federation council last week sent an appeal to 1,000 pastors to offer special prayer yesterday in the nation's behalf.

FAIL TO PROVIDE FOR BIGGER ARMY AS CRISIS LOOMS

Department and House Committee Do Nothing to Prepare.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 11.—(Special.)—While the house and the administration, spurred on by the merciless attack of Representative Britten and other preparedness advocates, have been authorizing the expenditure of millions to fit the navy for war, the house military affairs committee and the war department have done nothing towards preparing the army.

The committee rejected the only emergency recommendation made by the war department during the week. In addition, it chipped $70,000,000 from the department's official estimates for the maintenance of the present inadequate army on a peace basis during the next fiscal year. The department asked for $320,000,000. The committee, in reporting the army appropriation bill, granted it but $247,000,000—$73,000,000 less than for the current year.

The war department's one emergency recommendation was that the general staff be increased to ninety-two members and all restrictions on the presence of staff members in Washington eliminated. The committee refused to make any increase and only consented to waive restrictions after Secretary Baker journeyed to the capital to present the war department's demand in person.

Baker May Not Appeal

The war department has shown no intention of asking for emergency amendments, such as were requested for the navy. It is even doubted in some quarters that Secretary Baker will give his official sanction to the offering of the amendment for the increase in the general staff. The amendment will be offered, however, by Representative Madden.

A majority of the house military affairs committee are not in favor of adequate preparation. This was demonstrated, according to those favoring adequate preparation, by the approval of the Republicans on the committee of the army bill, with its $70,000,000 cut in appropriations and its failure to provide for an adequate general staff. Not a single Republican member prepared a minority report.

Neither the committee nor the war department has gone thoroughly into the question of building up an adequate land defense.

Does Not Provide Supplies

The army bill makes no provision for emergency increases in men, guns, ammunition, or supplies. It does not take into consideration the present inferiority of American artillery or the great shortage of machine guns except in this it provides that the appropriation of $3,000,000 for the latter shall be made immediately available. Neither the committee nor the officials of the war department have any attention to the larger caliber guns which have been used with such deadly effect in the European war.

LONDON REPORTS IMPORTANT GAINS ON FRENCH FRONT

German Trenches on Wide
Front Are Captured
with 215 Men.

FRENCH FRONT

BRITISH
LONDON, Feb. 11.—Another highly successful local operation was carried out last night. A strong system of hostile trenches lying on the southern front of Serre hill (north of Beaumont-Hamel) was attacked and captured on a front of over three-quarters of a mile. We captured 215 prisoners, a number considerably exceeding our casualties.

We repulsed this morning by our line an enemy attempt to approach our lines south of Sully-Sallisel. We entered enemy trenches during the night in the neighborhood of Pys, southwest of La Bassee, northeast of Neuve Chapelle and south of Fauquissart. Many casualties were inflicted on the enemy and his dugouts destroyed. A number of prisoners were secured.

We effectively bombarded the enemy's positions today at a number of places along our front.

AVIATION.
Our airplanes carried out bombing operations with good results on Friday night and Saturday. One German machine was driven down in the air fighting.

FRENCH
PARIS, Feb. 11.—In the forest of Apremont we penetrated the enemy's lines and made nine prisoners, including three noncommissioned officers.

In the Argonne and in Lorraine the Germans attempted surprise attacks, which failed under our infantry fire.

On the remainder of the front the night was calm.

The artillery was moderately active along the whole front today.

AVIATION.
An enemy airplane was brought down by our special guns in the neighborhood of Verdun. Bombs were dropped on Nancy and Pont St. Vincent without result. Yesterday and today, in the course of numerous aerial combats, two German machines fell in flames, one within the enemy lines, the other in our lines, the latter having been brought down by Lieut. Denlin. This was the eleventh enemy machine destroyed by this pilot.

Last night our air squadrons carried out new operations in Lorraine, on manufacturing at Haute Fourneau, La Sarre, Hagondange, Esch, and Mesleux-lez-Metz. A fire started in the neighborhood of the Arnaville station. The aviation ground at Colmar and the Fort of Zeebrugge were likewise bombarded.

GERMAN
BERLIN, Feb. 11.—Army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht: West of Lille and on both sides of La Bassee canal, as well as on the northern part of the Somme sector, there have been lively artillery duels.

On the north bank of the Ancre the English attacked with strong forces northeast of Beaumont, on the south bank east of Grandcourt and north of Courcellette with minor detachments. On the road from Fuisieux to Beaumont they entered our trenches on a breadth of one company. At all other places they were repulsed, partly in hand to hand fighting.

Army group of the German crown prince: On the left bank of the Meuse, as on the preceding day, there was increased firing from noon till dusk, but without an attack being developed. In the Ailly wood, southwest of St. Mihiel, and on both sides of the Moselle, French attacks were launched which were repulsed by our defensive fire and hand to hand fighting.

AVIATION.
Our air squadrons have made attacks far behind the hostile front. Military and transportation establishments, important to the enemy,

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Reciprocal artillery actions have occurred along the Belgian front.

ITALIAN FRONT

AUSTRIAN
BERLIN, Feb. 11.—Italian front: In the Gorizia district our troops in nocturnal enterprises entered several portions of enemy trenches, inflicted heavy sanguinary losses upon the Italians and captured fifteen officers and 650 men, ten machine guns, two mine throwers, and much other war material.

Detachments of infantry regiments Nos. 85 and 81 and territorial infantry from lower Austria and Bukovina contributed notably to this success.

BRITISH GAIN ON THE SOMME

Where Trenches Are Won North of Beaumont Hamel; Dugouts Destroyed at Pys; Attack Repulsed at Sully-Sallisel.

1—London reports the capture of trenches stretching three-quarters of a mile north of Beaumont Hamel, where 115 prisoners were captured.

2—The British report the destruction of dugouts near Pys.

3—The British announce the repulse of a German attack south of Sully-Sallisel.

ITALIAN
ROME, Feb. 11.—There have been desultory artillery actions in the Trentino. Our batteries shelled enemy positions on Monte Corno and dispersed enemy supply columns on the northern slopes of Monte Pasubio.

On the Julian front the enemy artillery showed increased activity. In the area east of Gorizia on the night of Friday, after heavy artillery and trench mortar preparation, the enemy in considerable force attacked our positions on the western slopes of Santa Caterina, northwest of San Mauro and east of Verolobass, between Sober and Gorizia-Dorinberg railway. After heavy fighting the enemy was repulsed nearly everywhere. Some very small portions of our front line trenches which have not yet been recaptured are kept under our heavy barrage fire. We captured more than seventy prisoners.

MESOPOTAMIA

BRITISH

LONDON, Feb. 11.—In Mesopotamia during Friday night and Saturday four Turkish attacks on the right were repulsed, and the British hold on the enemy trenches on the left was rapidly extended by bombing attacks.

Later, after a heavy bombardment, a successful assault was undertaken against trenches west of the liquorice factory, which Gen. Townshend held throughout the siege of Kut, whereby we secured the factory and 500 yards of enemy trenches.

As a result of these operations a new line has been occupied on a frontage of over 6,000 yards and the enemy pushed back to a depth varying from 800 to 1,200 yards. All the evidence shows that the Turks suffered heavily.

ROUMANIAN FRONT

PETROGRAD, Feb. 11.—On the Roumanian front there has been an exchange of fire.

HERE COMES T. R.!

STIRS SATIRE IN GERMAN PRESS

Colonel's Offer to Raise Regiment Hailed by Humorists.

BY CYRIL BROWN.
(Copyright, 1917, By Press Publishing Company (New York World).)
BERLIN, via Amsterdam, Feb. 11.—The report that Col. Theodore Roosevelt has volunteered to raise an army division, should there be war between Germany and the United States, has raised a great stir here. That the masses of the German people do not yet regard war with America as a grim certainty is made apparent by the good natured popular opinion of Col. Roosevelt in his new rôle of a general in the world war.

Professional humorists, paragraphers and cartoonists have seized enthusiastically on the opportunity to place the colonel in the German limelight again. "Teddy on the Warpath." Here follows a literal translation of an ode to "Teddy on the Warpath," by Robert Liebmann, in the Berlin Gazette:

Though it comes hard today, yet I greet you, dear Roosevelt; I hail you with anxious face.

For I fear you are going for us with your big stick and tomahawk. Please, Teddy, don't hurt us. Strip off your leather war paint and stay in your wigwam.

Don't be grumpy, Teddy bear.

Please don't dance your well known war dance.

Cut out your rough rider, cowboy grace.

Hand us, please, the pipe of peace. My heart beats anxiously in my breast.

Climb down from your fiery mustang. Are you already with one foot on the war path?

Alas, stop where you are and, please, please, leave me my scalp!

"Pale Terror Sweeps Field." Under the headline "Division Commander Roosevelt," a Lokal Anzeiger scribe meditates thus:

"Pale terror runs through the field's gray ranks. For more than two years they have victoriously faced all comers; no nation, no foe could down them. But now appears a new enemy who makes these hardy warriors quake."

"What no one could get away with heretofore this one will do. Here Roosevelt, laurel crowned rough rider of Cuban memory, has offered his considerable military talents in case of war with Germany; has offered to raise a division, which he will lead, undoubtedly, if he succeeds in getting across the big pond."

"He proposes to organize a division with the same ease as an African hunting expedition and send these at the time. Only, don't get too close, for those fellows could very easily shoot back, and they have even been known to attack first."

"The future is dark; no man knows what rests in her lap; but should fate really decree that Theodore the Granite will be has the teeth."

Passenger Club to Dance. The Chicago Passenger club, composed of railway men of all lines entering Chicago, will give a dinner and dance tomorrow evening at the Grand Pacific hotel.

BOOM! BOOM!

Shrapnel's Shriek and Cannon's Roar Hold No Terror for These Volunteer Red Cross Chauffeurs.

Mrs. H. Morton.

Through the "curtain of fire" from enemy guns, whizzing perilously about the edges of shell craters, maybe splashed occasionally with the leaden hail of shrapnel—such is the outlook, if war ever comes, for these Chicago women volunteers for Red Cross service. Each of them has signified her willingness to act as automobile driver for emergency hospital service in time of need. Mrs. Sidney J. Blum resides at 2327 Michigan avenue, Miss Anna Weiss at 5025 St. Lawrence avenue, and Mrs. H. Morton at 6801 South Union avenue. Each is an experienced driver as well as an enthusiastic patriot.

TOLSTOI, DENIED RIGHT TO SPEAK, CRITICIZES U. S.

New York, Feb. 11.—[Special.]—"Russia will be greatly surprised when it hears the news," Count Ilya Tolstol, son of Count Leo Tolstol, said today in commenting on the refusal of Columbia university authorities to allow him to speak in Philosophy hall Saturday night.

"I thought this the country of liberty, of free speech. Why, I delivered the same lecture in the polytechnical museum, the largest auditorium in Moscow, on Oct. 21 last. It was passed by the police censors, but your great university won't permit it. I am very sorry for Columbia."

Count Tolstol said he had delivered the lecture before Princeton university and before the Boston City club, and in Brooklyn.

Count Tolstol saw in the refusal to allow him to speak a manifestation of the "hypocrisy" prevalent in American life. He regards the Mann white slave act as the supreme evidence.

Old Glory Post Indorses Wilson. Resolutions were adopted yesterday by Old Glory post No. 106, Grand Army of the Republic, indorsing President Wilson's break with Germany and pledging support to the government in subsequent action which may follow.

TEUTONS FEEL INSULT IN QUERY ON PATRIOTISM

Prominent German-Americans Reiterate Pledges to United States.

More German-Americans, following the lead of the German club of Chicago, yesterday declared that they would be unflinchingly loyal to the government of the United States should the present international crisis precipitate war with Germany.

A canvass of prominent Chicagoans of German extraction revealed the feeling that the questioning of their loyalty is an insult.

"Why question us?" was the attitude taken by many. "The German-Americans have given Uncle Sam no reason to doubt them."

Expressions of opinion follow: Oscar F. Mayer—We German-Americans are for America first. Although of German extraction, our sympathies must and always will lie with the United States before any other country. If war comes we will give our property, our energy, and, if need be, our lives for this country.

Theodore Oehne—I am an American citizen. That tells the whole story, but I don't see why that fact is not sufficient to cause the assumption of my loyalty to the United States. I would be willing to fight for this country. I have two sons, 28 and 30 years old, and, though they are married, they would be as ready as I am.

William Rothmann, former member of the board of education—As an American citizen of German blood I would regret deeply a war between this country and Germany, but if it comes, my duty as an American citizen would be clear and it would be done.

Loyal to United States. Albert F. Madsen, real estate dealer—I was born in this country and expect to die here. My father was born in Germany. If he were living he would be loyal to the United States in the event of a war with Germany, and his son will be the same.

Dr. George Leininger, superintendent of the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane at Dunning—I don't see why we Americans of German blood should be questioned in these times. We are ready to go shoulder to shoulder with all other Americans of foreign extraction to defend the United States against any foe. I have two sons, and they will be ready any time the government needs them.

Dr. O. W. Lewis, formerly coroner's physician—Although I was born in Germany, I'm an American first. I came to this country when I was 4 years old. I'm an American through and through, and no one need worry about me if war comes.

Vote Against U. S. Going to War. New York, Feb. 11.—Delegates attending a convention of the national workmen's committee on Jewish rights, which opened here today, voted against the United States becoming involved in the European war.

WOMEN ORGANIZE TO WIN RECRUITS FOR RED CROSS

Zealous workers of the Chicago Red Cross chapter worked all day yesterday perfecting plans for enrollment. There were informal sessions at the Red Cross shop on East Madison street, at the home of Mrs. A. T. Martin and at the home of other of the women interested.

An enrollment committee was appointed comprising Mrs. A. T. Martin, chairman; Miss Anita Blair, Mrs. Robert Gardner, and Miss Mildred McCormick. This committee, in conjunction with Miss Ursula C. Noyes of Boston, who arrived Saturday to take charge of instruction, made the following announcement:

"Applications should be made at room 801 Tower building, 2 North Michigan avenue, on Wednesday and Thursday, between 8 a. m. and 9 p. m. Daily classes are to be held morning, afternoon and evening, beginning on Thursday."

At a meeting of the Women's Club of Evanston yesterday Dr. Dwight Clark of Evanston was elected chairman of a committee to supervise activities of the Red Cross service in Evanston.

DYE AND DRUG EXPORTS LEAP

New York, Feb. 11.—[Special.]—Advances customs figures available today indicate that American manufacturing plants have exported in the last calendar year, chiefly from this port, more than $124,000,000 in drugs, dyes, and chemicals, as against less than $27,000,000 in 1912. This line of industries has expanded since the war began in Europe far more than any other line has grown in a similar period in the history of the country.

Deutschland Hadn't Left Its Home Port on Jan. 31

New London, Conn., Feb. 11.—Up to Jan. 31 the German merchant submarine Deutschland had not left its home port, according to a statement made to the Associated Press tonight by Paul G. L. Hilken, vice president and general manager of the Eastern Forwarding company. While Mr. Hilken declined to discuss the probability of another voyage to this country by the Deutschland, it was learned from reliable sources that neither the Deutschland nor a sister submarine would leave Germany for America until after the present crisis had passed.

IMPORTANT

We would like to impress upon you one very important fact, and that is that the few sets we now have left of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, "Handy Volume" Issue, printed on India paper, are the last that can be had. We simply cannot get any more sets because the publishers cannot get any more India paper; the war has killed that industry.

It may be that you have not ordered, thinking you could obtain the "Handy Volume" Encyclopaedia Britannica on India paper at any time. This is entirely wrong. If you are going to purchase the Encyclopaedia Britannica, printed on India paper, you will have to do so immediately.

We have received thousands of expressions of approval regarding the India paper from buyers of this form of the Britannica. India paper has enabled the Britannica to do what the telephone and the automobile have done—to broaden the outlook of every man who possesses one of these three great utilities. Make up your mind that you do want it or that you don't. But if you make up your mind that you do want it, take our advice and act at once.

THE FAITHLESS CONGRESSMEN.

The defense offered by members of the military affairs committee of the house for their conduct in relation to the increase of the general staff expedites no one of the guilty.

The facts are these: The secretary of war asked for an increase of the general staff to a total of ninety-two officers.

This was the number recommended by Chief of Staff Scott and endorsed by professional opinion when the present national defense act was being formulated. The increase was refused. In place of it, Hay, the former chairman, always an enemy of expert army recommendations, devised a joker which pretended to increase the staff while really decreasing it. It provided that the existing staff, thirty-six in number, should be augmented by nineteen, to be added in five annual increments; it also provided that not more than half of the staff should be stationed at or near Washington.

This Hay had in reality, while pretending to increase the staff to fifty-two in five years, reduced it to nineteen the first year, with a maximum of twenty-six in five years.

When Secretary Baker the other day was told by Hay's understudy, Dent, who is now chairman of the military affairs committee, that he could not have a staff of ninety-two, as recommended by Gen. Scott and other experts, he asked that at least the vicious locus pocus which Hay had allowed to reduce the staff be removed and that he be allowed the full number of staff officers, where alone they can work effectively, at Washington.

This compromise was, it now appears, accepted. The fact remains that the secretary's request for a staff of the size he desires and military judgment recommends was refused.

Apparently the secretary's request was kept from the whole committee, which was only asked to vote upon the compromise that Representative Dent and his guilty colleagues forced upon the secretary.

The Tribune correspondent in Washington learned the truth and telegraphed it to THE TRIBUNE. Thereupon THE TRIBUNE very properly said that the responsible members of the committee should be expelled from congress as unfit to serve in this national crisis.

This view of THE TRIBUNE was widely seconded by the press of the United States. It represented the view of the American people. Its effect was so widespread that the guilty parties sought an opportunity to defend themselves in a forum where their accusers could not appear—the floor of the house. They withdrew from the house the fact that they had refused Secretary of War Baker's request for a staff of ninety-two men. They called upon representatives who apparently were unaware of the secretary's demand to bear them out. Representative Kahn appears to have been an innocent accomplice of the deception.

They succeeded in deceiving the house, but they will not succeed in deceiving the nation.

THE TRIBUNE correspondent has since obtained documentary evidence of their deceit. In the hour of national peril these congressmen have united against the national safety. They have further conspired to cover up their offense. They are unworthy to be on the committee of military affairs. They are unworthy to sit in congress. They are unworthy of American citizenship.

If the remaining life of the present congress is too short to try these men before the bar, certainly the next congress must not put them on any committee where their power of evil is so great. Any congressman who will approve a house organization that allows these men to choke essential military legislation, to jeopardize the safety of the country, to assure the defeat of our army in event of war, is not fit himself to remain in congress.

Let the guilty ones sit ostracized and alone in the empty seats of congress as Catiline sat until their next term has expired and let their constituents justify their own manhood to the nation by repudiating the men who made their names bywords in the halls of congress.

THE SOUTH IS IN THE SADDLE.

Mr. Mann called attention to the fact of thirty-two men appointed to second lieutenants in the marine corps last week, nineteen came from South Carolina and Virginia and only three from the entire north. Thirteen were from South Carolina and six from Virginia. Mr. Mann also developed the fact that the southerners were given their places without any mental tests.—Washington dispatch.

One of the most necessary things to be done for the safety of the country and the proper conduct of our defense in the present critical situation is the elimination of spoliators from the defense departments and committees. No man who at such a time as this will exploit the service should be at the head of the navy department.

MORE PUTTERING RAILWAY LEGISLATION.

The measure dealing with railway strikes devised by the senate committee on interstate commerce is not a very heroic answer to Mr. Compers' bluster. Its effectiveness as a protection to the public can only be proved by experience, expensive to all concerned.

The bill does not declare mass strikes to be transportation unlawful, as it ought to do, but compromises by making it a misdemeanor by force or intimidation to obstruct or retard the passage of mail, the orderly movement of interstate or foreign commerce, or the makeup or disposition of any train. This it vigorously applied may strengthen the hands of the public authorities in case of trouble. The right to draft employees to operate telegraph, telephone, and railway lines when public safety requires is vested in the president and there is provision for enlarging the board of mediation and for investigation during three months and publication of its findings.

It is a pity the whole problem of wage adjustment cannot be placed where it can be intelligently and consistently handled—namely, with the interstate commerce commission. We had hoped the revelation of last August would induce congress to take up seriously our one-sided machinery of railway regulation and round out a consistent and balanced regulation under which the conflicting claims of capital, labor, and the public could be harmonized and the railroads given at last the benefit of a constructive regulation instead of a negative and partial system of checks. The present congress, however, is hardly the body to attempt much less achieve, such a task and the outlook for comprehensive, constructive railroad legislation is not bright.

PATRIOTISM AND COMMON SENSE.

The undoubtedly patriotic disposition to raise something just now produces an unpleasant chill. There is a desire to raise provisional regiments, provisional brigades, and provisional divisions, to raise majors, colonels, and generals, to raise voices and flags and sewing circles, to raise funds and knitting societies.

Will American patriotism stop a moment to consider that the only thing that can be raised successfully by ardent amateurs in the awful business of war is perfect hell?

Will Americans stop to realize that this war is the concentrated destructive essence of the highest mechanical and chemical science—that it is the quintessential of demonstrated ability in organization and national effort?

Will Americans reflect that there is no one in America, outside of the men who have been trained in the strictly military aspect of war or in the scientific, industrial, and commercial activities of peace which are necessary to war, who knows the slightest thing about conducting war?

Can the United States think that amateurs may enter this war and have the slightest chance of knowing what hit them? Are we to suppose that there is anything a patriotic American can offer his government except his services, to be directed as the best intelligence in the nation orders—as, how, and when it orders?

What the United States needs now is composed of silent devotion, intense and obedient devotion. Patriotic Americanism would hope that there would be no cheap ebullition of sentiment, no mob activities, no movements which betray the willing spirit and the ignorant mind.

If wisdom prevails in congress a way will be given to each needed person to do the thing needed of him and her. It will be a way ordered by reason and intelligence, based upon experience and knowledge of facts.

We do not need blowing off of steam or blowing of whistles. We shall need mobilization of industries and universal service. We shall need man power acts and a cool intelligence directing the use of the man power and the material power.

If every man who thinks he ought to join a provisional regiment would write to his congressman saying that he believes in universal service he would do more to put an effective rifle in the United States army than he possibly can do otherwise.

If we enter this war as amateurs we shall overtax the hospital arrangements of the entente powers and be asked to withdraw to make room for wounded who before they were wounded were efficient.

TREASONABLE TALK.

When Ald. Kennedy and Rodriguez took office they took the following oath:

"I do solemnly swear that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of Illinois, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of alderman according to the best of my ability."

On Friday night at a large meeting of Socialists a morning newspaper says that Ald. Kennedy made the following remarks:

"Socialists in Europe did not want this war," said Ald. Kennedy, "but they failed to act. Let us show them what we can do. It's an economic war, on legal and technical grounds. If America citizens are forced into a war we would be justified in starting a bloody revolution here at home—a thousand times justified."

"Don't support the war," said Ald. Kennedy, "but support the war. The only ones to whom freedom of the press is important are the food speculators and the munition manufacturers. We want a referendum vote. Make such an overwhelming protest to war office, officials that they will know that if they go to war they go alone—we won't follow them."

Ald. Rodriguez also spoke. His words are not reported, but it is to be presumed he was in sympathy with his colleague.

We suggest that it is the duty of the city council to ascertain whether these two sworn members spoke the treasonable words reported above or other words which break the spirit and the letter of their oath of office.

If public officials sworn to uphold the constitution of the United States can invite citizens to refuse to obey the call of the president and go without rebuke, this nation is no longer a nation.

If Kennedy and Rodriguez were guilty of expressing the sentiment and making the appeal ascribed to the former in this report, they have broken the spirit of their oath of office and should be promptly expelled from the council.

The quicker local citizens of the nation teach seditious windbags that they will not be tolerated the better for all concerned. This is no time for loose gabble. When a man, especially a public official, talks about "starting a bloody revolution at home" while we are confronting a war with a foreign power, he belongs not on a public platform, much less in a seat in a public council. He belongs in a cell.

Editorial of the Day

OUR COUNTRY ABOVE ALL.

[From Express and Western, Columbus, O.]

Naturally our sympathies have been with Germany and her allies, as against Great Britain and her allies, in the world war. Germany was our fatherland.

Today it is different. Our adopted country should have our first love and has it.

Even as a man leaves his father and mother and bestows his affection upon his wife, so have we done—in the matter of country.

Our whole allegiance is to the United States, be it right or wrong.

To the challenge sent, Woodrow Wilson could make but one answer; he has made it.

If the worst comes to the worst, and war, with all its curse, falls upon this land—which we hope and pray will not be the case—the Americans of German birth or with German inclinations will be found standing shoulder to shoulder with those of other nationalities, who have been made Americans in this, the great melting pot of the nations.

"Our country, may she ever be right—but our country above all, right or wrong."

—ECONOMICAL.

"Blank's wife fines him a dollar for every hour he stays away from home after office hours. I wonder why he stands for it."

"He probably figures that it is cheaper than paying alimony."—Boston Transcript.

AN EXPERIENCE.

WOMAN who had lived for several years in a tuberculosis hospital now lives in a family home. She noticed that the maid who attended her room had marked symptoms of consumption. She coughed a great deal, expectorated freely, had a flushed face, was losing flesh and was tired much of the time. The woman was afraid the maid had caught the disease and would infect her carpets, rug, and bedding. She spoke to the house physician about it. He said he thought she was probably tubercular. He knew that other guests were afraid and had complained. He thought the best way out of it would be to have the girl discharged. To this the woman objected. It would solve the situation so far as she was concerned, but it would not meet the situation.

If the girl was dangerously careless she would find employment elsewhere and endanger unsuspecting persons. Besides, it was not fair to the girl. If she was tubercular she needed rest in a properly run institution. To throw her out of a job would only make matters worse for her.

At this point the doctor sent an aptum to the city laboratory. The report came back, "No tubercle bacilli found." The physician said this was conclusive proof that the girl did not have consumption.

When the matter was brought to the attention of the proprietor he expressed his opinion of the whole tuberculous movement. It was foolish. He may have said that it was bunk. Persons of normal general and they are men of danger from this girl, consumption or no consumption. This talk about spreading disease was just old woman's talk. He knew.

The girl was shifted to another part of the hotel. The woman is supposed to be satisfied, the maid is confirmed in her opinion that she is not a consumptive, and the persons in the rooms to which she is assigned have not been hearing from her. Perhaps they are men of the hotel during the day and do not know who cleans up their rooms.

Here we have an illustration of typical bores all down the line. Has a girl been bothering that makes the control of consumption proceed slowly. Either the girl is tubercular or she is not. One negative aptum analysis does not prove anything. She has a right to have a careful examination and as many aptum examinations as are necessary for a diagnosis.

If she has consumption she has a right to care in one of the sanitariums available. If she has consumption and works for a few months longer she will be in a hopeless stage of the disease. If she is free from consumption, as shown by a thorough examination, she has a right to stay not only in her job but in charge of the rooms she had before. She has a right to vindication.

Any way the diagnosis is, the girl has gotten a dirty deal. If the girl has consumption, and an adequate proof that she has not is at hand, the people whose rooms she has charge of have gotten a dirty deal. The girl will certainly be more careless now than she was before. The only person who has gotten the best of it is the woman who complained. For she is disgruntled with the deal given the girl and also the injustice to the guests and so she told me the story.

TOO MANY FACTORS.
S. T. J. writes: "I had a blood test recently. The lymphocyte count was 43. What does this indicate?"

REPLY.
I judge the report said that 43 per cent of the white blood cells were lymphocytes. This may mean that you have lymphocytosis. It may mean that you have leukemia. If the number of leukocytes is less than 10,000 and the percentage of lymphocytes is high it may mean tuberculosis or typhoid fever. As you see, everything depends on the other facts along with the percentage of leukocytes disclosed by the blood examination.

STERILIZING MILK.
Mrs. N. M. B. writes: "[1] What is the best pasteurizing milk also sterilizing? Can same be done in the home? [2] What is the cause of night sweats on a man 31 years of age who is apparently healthy?"

REPLY.
1. By pasteurizing in a water bath of 160° F. for 30 minutes. The milk is heated to 160° and held at that temperature for twenty minutes. By sterilized milk one commonly means boiled milk.

2. Night sweats may be the cause. Perhaps his room is too warm or not well ventilated.

MILK GRUEL, O. K.
Young mother writes: "Will any harm result from feeding a 7 month old baby milk gruel for her noon meal? She does not seem satisfied with nursing. She is an active child and raises herself up and stands on her feet when put down a moment. Will it hurt her? Baby has four teeth and weighs twenty-two and one-half pounds. She weighs nine pounds at birth."

REPLY.
By milk gruel I presume you mean milk diluted with oatmeal gruel. If so, it is safe enough. Use about six ounces of gruel to nine ounces of milk.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright, 1917, by the Brewster Co.]

It is to be hoped that the president and the administration at Washington will attach no undue importance to the Ottoman empire's failure, until now, to give its adhesion to the Kaiser's cause. For the Kaiser's cause has led to the rupture of diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany. For the new grand vizier, who has just supplanted the old vizier, has been a German officer and to resist their will, Talat, who frequently visits Berlin and the Kaiser's headquarters, is Emperor William's obedient instrument.

Talat is probably the wickedest and most sinister figure of that precious Young Turk party, who have brought the Ottoman empire into its present predicament. For since he and his Young Turk confederates have been at the head of affairs at Constantinople the Ottoman empire has lost Saloniki and nearly all its possessions in Europe, as well as Tripoli, the whole of Arabia, with the sacred cities of Mecca and Medina, all that moiety of Asia Minor which is now in the possession of the Russians, the entire lower portion of the valley of Mesopotamia and of the Euphrates, all the Aegean Islands, including those within German waters, the Turkish mainland and the suzerainty of Egypt, with its accompanying large tribute. That is what Talat and the Young Turks have done for the Ottoman empire.

As for poor Prince Said Halim, no one knows with any degree of certainty what has become of him. He has been strangely missing for many months past. According to some he has sought refuge abroad under another name, according to others he is either in secret captivity in some remote portion of the empire or else is dead, having met with a fate similar to that of Crown Prince Yusouf-Eddine. It was reported that he was opposed to the Kaiser's dominion in Turkey, and for an entire year his name has been conspicuous by its absence from all transactions of the sublime government with foreign governments and from the semi-official communications given by the Turkish, the Austrian and the German press of ceremonies at the court of the sultan, at which all other high officials are recorded as present. Prince Said Halim was a real friend of the Kaiser, as well as a real relative.

Prince Said's son, Prince Omar Halim of Egypt, married on the eve of the war a grandchild of the present sultan, her father having been the eldest son of Sultan Murad. She bears the name of Princess Behle Sultana.

Another matrimonial alliance between the two reigning houses was the marriage of the Egyptian Prince El Hany, son of Abbas I, of Egypt, to the late Princess Munir Sultana, a sister of the present ruler of the Ottoman empire and a daughter, therefore, of the late Sultan Abdul Majid.

This Princess Munir was a masterful lady, whose daughter became the only wife of Khedive Tewfik and the mother of the new deposed Khedive Abbas II. Princess Munir terrified both her son-in-law, Khedive Tewfik, and her husband, Prince El Hany, for on one occasion, when he learned by chance that her consort was looking with favor upon the women of her seraglio, she took drastic and thoroughly oriental means to put an end to the possibility of an infatuation, for on the following day, when the golden dish covered the platter from the kitchen bearing the plaid for the evening meal, her husband was confronted by the severed head of the lovely but ill-fated young woman, which lay routine in the rice.

JUDGE GIBBONS TAKEN BY DEATH; NOTED JURIST

Member of Circuit Bench
for 24 Years Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Judge John Gibbons, for twenty-four years an occupant of the Circuit bench in Chicago, died at the Presbyterian hospital yesterday. His death was caused by pneumonia, following an operation for an aneurism of the aorta which had been superinduced by arterio-sclerosis. He had been under the care of Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan and Bertram W. Egan.

The jurist passed away at 6:30 o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Elizabeth Gibbons, his wife, and Charles and Patrick Gibbons, nephews, and their wives were at his bedside. He was unconscious for hours before his death.

The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning from the residence, 1111 North Dearborn street. Services will be held at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The interment will be in Calvary.

Born in Ireland.
Judge Gibbons was born March 28, 1843, in Farnham, Donegal, Ireland, and came to this country when 16 years old, settling in Philadelphia. He attended the Broad Street academy there and then graduated from Notre Dame university. For two years after leaving the university he attended a night law school in Philadelphia, and was admitted to the bar in Keokuk, Ia., in 1870. For five years he was city attorney of Keokuk, and was elected to the Iowa legislature in 1875.

While city attorney he caused the Supreme court of the United States to recall two of its prior decisions and to establish the principle that a municipality had the power to collect wharfage based on the tonnage of the vessel, and other mooted points. His influence in bringing about these decisions gave him a national reputation.

Came Here in 1879.
He came to Chicago in 1879 and practiced law until 1883. Armand P. Feely, formerly assistant corporation counsel, and Judge Marcus Kavanagh, were members of his firm. During this period he edited the Chicago Law Journal and the American Criminal Reports and wrote "Tenure and Toll; or the Rights and Wrongs of Property and Labor," a volume that established him as a friend of the working classes. It was responsible for the Pullman quo warranto case being taken from his court on change of venue on the ground that the book was prima facie evidence that the jurist was prejudiced in favor of the laboring man.

He was elected to the state bench in 1883 and served continuously till his death. As judge he rendered a number of important decisions. When the state's attorney and Chicago clubs abandoned hope of closing the Harriet racetrack, where gambling was rife, Judge Gibbons held that a corporation is the creature of the state, subject to state regulation, and revoked its charter of the racetrack. All these decisions were upheld by the higher courts.

Gas Case Decision.
His decision in the gas case in 1913 was his most notable in recent years. The city passed an ordinance fixing the rates for gas supplied by the People's Gas Light and Coke company at 75 cents a 1,000 cubic feet for 1911-'12; 70 cents for 1912-'13, and 68 cents for 1913-'14. Judge Gibbons issued a temporary injunction restraining the enforcement of the ordinance and reducing the rate for gas from 85 to 80 cents, which is the prevailing rate today.

At the beginning of his administration Mayor Thompson appointed Attorney Donald R. Richberg to start action to establish the validity of the gas ordinance. Mr. Richberg made a fight to take the case away from Judge Gibbons, with the result that the executive committee of the Circuit court judges transferred the case to the jurisdiction of Judge Frederick A. Smith, where it is now being pushed. In its contention that the ordinance has been in legal effect since its passage the city is seeking to obtain a refund of $10,000,000, which it holds the citizens have been forced illegally to pay by the rate fixed by Judge Gibbons.

Favored Many Reforms.
Judge Gibbons favored national uniform divorce laws, the death penalty for assaults on women, and profit sharing by corporations and employees to and strikes. He went on record in a decision as opposing high school fraternities and all secret societies as enemies of the law and state.

Judge Gibbons was one of the organizers and the first president of the Notre Dame Alumni association. He was a Roman Catholic, member of the Holy Angels parish, and president of the St. Patrick society. He had been a lecturer on constitutional law in the Chicago College of Law and a member of the Hamilton club from its early days.

He had been one of the owners of the Chicago Law Journal since 1898. He owned mining interests in Colorado, and in that state he usually spent his summers. He was married to Mrs. R. R. Fuller in 1892.

Among his distinguished kinsmen were Mgr. John Gibbons of Rome, Archbishop McGettigan of Armagh, and Cardinal Logue of Armagh.

DUKE OF NORFOLK, NOTED CATHOLIC, DIES IN LONDON

Son of 8 Years Inherits
Many Titles and $15-
000,000 Estate.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The Duke of Norfolk died here today. He was the ranking member of the English nobility, the foremost English Catholic, and one of the richest men in the British Isles. His income has been estimated at $15,000 a day. He was 69 years old.

The death of the duke was sudden. The first announcement of his illness was made last Saturday. All the leading Catholic churches of London held special services today in honor of the dead duke, whose prominence in Catholic affairs had earned him the title "Britain's lay pope."

The heir to the $15,000,000 estate of the duke is an 8-year-old boy, Bernard Marmaduke Howard, Earl of Arundel and Surrey and the son of the Duke of Norfolk by his second marriage. Assuming the titles and duties of his father, the boy will become the supreme director of all state ceremonial in England, especially of coronations.

Son Dies as an Invalid.
The duke's life, until his second marriage seventeen years ago, was regarded as unhappy. Despite his many titles, prerogatives, honors, and wealth, the affliction of his son, born of his first wife, Lady Fiore Hastings, caused him for more than twenty years to take the boy to almost every shrine in Europe noted for curative powers and to every great physician. The boy died an invalid when 22 years old.

Seventeen years later—his first wife had lived for only ten months after her marriage—the duke married the Hon. Gwendolen Constable-Maxwell. The marriage was a social bombshell, as English society had decided that the duke's double bereavement would prevent a second marriage. The second Duchess of Norfolk, whose friendship for the duke before his first

DETECTIVE HEADS GIVEN SHAKEUP BY SCHUETTLER

Transfers Two Lieutenants from Bureau and Replaces Them.

Chief of Police Schuetzler yesterday started in on a reorganization of the detective bureau, which has been bitterly attacked by State's Attorney Hoyne since Nicholas Hunt resigned.

In a transfer, order issued at night the chief removed two lieutenants from the bureau and replaced them with two new men. Lieut. William Fitzgerald of the Desplaines street station and Lieut. John Martin, No. 2 of the Stanton avenue station.

They take the places of Lieut. John F. Enright and Acting Lieut. Philip Miller, both of whom were shifted to the Stanton avenue station. Miller was reduced to his rank of senior detective sergeant.

Lieut. Fitzgerald has earned his promotion on his record at the Desplaines street station, according to the view of the chief's advisers. It was because Fitzgerald and Lieut. Schoemaker were "too active" in suppressing vice and crime that the "vice lords" collected a pool to have them shifted from Desplaines street where the Healey regime, State's Attorney Hoyne charged. Lieut. Martin, No. 2, known as "Long John" Martin, has seen service in nearly every section of Chicago, and it is expected his wide knowledge of the city will serve him in good stead in his new position.

Besides the lieutenants, ten patrol and desk sergeants, five detective sergeants, and seven patrolmen were transferred by the chief's order. Senior Detective Sergt. Joseph S. Hallway was shifted from the Thirty-fifth street station to the detective bureau.

Train and Car Crash; Motorman May Not Live

C. R. Cauby of Harvey, a motorman, was perhaps fatally hurt and twenty-two passengers on a Chicago and Southern Traction company car were cut and bruised early yesterday when it was struck, shoved sixty feet, and overturned by a backing Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railway train at the West End avenue crossing, Chicago Heights.

EMPTY CHAIR

Warm Plate Still Set for Little Girl Killed by Auto.

Frieda Oehler

At the home of Charles G. Oehler, 5220 Laffin street, there is a chair in the living room and a warm plate set for dinner for a 14 year old daughter who will never come home.

Frieda Oehler, who has worked for the Western Union Telegraph company since she was graduated from school four months ago, did not return home Saturday night. The family waited supper until 10, and then the oldest brother, Charles, started out to find his sister.

A key and a telephone book were the means by which the Western Union Telegraph company had identified the body of the brown haired, slender girl killed by the automobile of Mrs. Nellie Hynes of 5163 Michigan avenue at State street and Jackson boulevard as the body of Frieda Oehler.

Charles E. Salisbury, the driver of the automobile, was booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and released on bond.

Baby Girl in Blanket Abandoned in the Cold

Feeble cries summoned Frank Breaker, 2507 West Monroe street, to the rear porch of his home last evening. There he found a writhing bundle wrapped in a blue and white blanket. Two tiny hands, blue from the cold, clutched at the air. It was a 3 months old girl. He took the baby to the Chicago Foundlings home, 15 South Hoyne avenue.

'PERJURER,' SAYS HOYNE IN REPLY TO LIEUT. COLES

State's Attorney Reiterates Charge Promotions Cost $300 Each.

Sergeants of police who were promoted to lieutenancies last July paid $300 each for their elevation, according to a statement by State's Attorney Hoyne yesterday, and all the money went directly to former Chief Charles C. Healey.

In spite of a denial by Lieut. William A. Coles of the first deputy's office, who is a candidate for chief of the detective bureau, Mr. Hoyne said he had paid $300 for his promotion and had loaned Lieut. Frank Matchett $100 to gain his. In addition, Mr. Hoyne declared Lieut. Coles committed "the most outrageous perjury" before the grand jury to shield Chief Healey and Lieut. Michael F. Delaney, who, the prosecutor charged, "shook him down."

Mr. Hoyne said further that $300 was paid for the promotion of Lieut. William Schoemaker of Lake street, but not with that officer's knowledge.

Questions "Code of Honor." Mr. Hoyne's statement follows in part: "In one of the Sunday newspapers there is an interview in which Lieut. William Coles complains bitterly because I have made public the fact that he and numerous other lieutenants obtained their promotions by the payment of money."

"For the constitution, statutes, and ordinances the old school policeman substitutes a code of honor which he borrows from thieves. He believes he has the right to decide when he shall commit perjury and when he shall tell the truth, and, above all things, he must not squeal. The interview of Lieut. Coles perfectly illustrates the point of view of the old fashioned copper."

Charges $300 Bribe. Mr. Hoyne is indignant and does he complain that the former chief of police or his fellow sergeant, now lieutenant, Michael F. Delaney extorted $300 from him for a promotion to which he was entitled? No.

"In fact, he blames me for exposing his perjury and other reprehensible conduct and even suggests that I am animated by personal malice. This perfectly illustrates the warped viewpoint of the old school policeman."

G. O. P. NATIONAL BODY TO GATHER HERE IN SPRING

Willcox Pledges to Give All Elements of Party Recognition.

New York, Feb. 11.—William R. Willcox, chairman of the Republican national committee, in a letter tonight to George W. Perkins and Everett Colby, progressive members of the Republican campaign committee in the recent election, announced his intention of calling a meeting of the national committee, probably at Chicago, in May or June next.

On Jan. 31 Mr. Perkins and Mr. Colby wrote Mr. Willcox urging him to call a meeting of the national committee.

Mr. Willcox called attention to the fact that the executive committee of the national committee at a recent meeting decided the full committee should meet once a year, "instead of less frequently, as had been the custom in former years." He added, however, that inasmuch as the national committee had not met since last June, he had intended calling it together "before the expiration of the year."

After referring to the desire of Mr. Perkins and Mr. Colby that the Republican party should be "the one cohesive organization of the regular Republican vote, the Progressive-Republican vote, the Progressive vote, and the Independent vote," Chairman Willcox declared that the recent election, although resulting in the defeat of the Republican ticket, had shown "that the effort made to bring about a reunited party was largely successful."

"A committee has already been appointed to consider a plan for giving proper recognition to all elements in sympathy with the policies of the Republican party," Mr. Willcox wrote, "and this committee is united in its belief that a committee or council representative of the various elements to which you refer in your letter should be formed, associated with or supplemental to the national committee."

UNION PACIFIC

A little over a hundred years ago all west of the Alleghenies belonged to France, Spain and No Man.

Even in 1850 there were about 100,000 people in the Union Pacific territory. Today there are 10,000,000. Shacks have become skyscrapers. The desert has been made to bloom. Western industries serve the world.

All know of the remarkable development of the 11 Union Pacific States since the completion of the line in 1869.

It was Lincoln who urged the construction of an east and west railway. He insisted that the Government help to build it, "not only as a military necessity"—as Gen. Dodge had said—"but as a means of holding the Pacific Coast to the Union."

From this ideal of a United Republic came the name: Union Pacific.

Since the reorganization of this national railway in 1897, over $269,700,000 have been invested in improvements—the debt of $60,000,000 to the Government has been paid in full—and the whole people benefited.

In these 48 years the West has won prosperity. The states have won solidity. The Union Pacific has won the public's gratitude.

Today the nationalized Union Pacific is the main link between East and West—a boulevard of steel for passengers and freight.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scheiden, who have a 16 months old daughter, Ellen, both, use the place as a boarding house. They and ten roomers were asleep when the fire started at 2 o'clock.

Leap Saves One Man.
Louis Wathery, a boarder, leaped from a second floor window and escaped. John Fries, another boarder, on the second floor, was burned on the hands and face and overcome by smoke. Mr. and Mrs. Scheiden and the others were forced to flee for their lives.

Jewish Creamer, a member of Truck 10 made two trips into the burning building. The first trip he carried out Fries, and, returning, he carried out the body of Boldt.

Boarder Spreads Alarm.
Creamer was staggering and nearly helpless by the time he reached the open air with Boldt. He revived quickly and remained on duty.

An overheated oil stove in Fries' room in the front of the second floor started the fire. He ran through the building and awakened Mr. and Mrs. Scheiden and some of the others. Mrs. Scheiden seized her baby and hurried down the front stairway, which had already caught fire. Her husband followed her. In bed, Mrs. Charles Arndt, living on the third floor at 3335 Lake Park avenue, was wakened out by flames in the afternoon when fire started in the rear of a vacant store on the first floor.

Woman and Man Identify Prisoner as a Bandit

George McDonald, who was arrested with four others in a raid at 232 South LaSalle street early yesterday, was identified later, the police say.

Mr. Louis Feldman, 901 Washington boulevard, said he was one of the men who held her up in her husband's grocery.

R. F. Branham, 940 West Adams street, identified him as one of the two men who stole $20 from him late Friday afternoon.

FACING TRIAL, NAVAL DESERTER GRINS WITH JOY

Guy Ott is the happiest man-of-war-a-man at the Great Lakes training station, in spite of the fact that he faces general court-martial and a prison term for desertion.

"I'm ready to take my medicine," said Ott as he surrendered yesterday at the navy recruiting office, 130 North Fifth avenue, after he had traveled nearly 1,000 miles to give himself up.

Ott enlisted last fall at Kansas City as an able seaman. He was sent to the Great Lakes training station. The routine life of a bluejacket grew monotonous, and after a few weeks the youth left. He made his way to his home near Columbia, S. C. Then the war clouds began to gather and he thought that he was a traitor pined on young Ott's mind.

He finally went to a recruiting station in South Carolina and told his story. It was established that he was a deserter and he was given tickets to return to Chicago.

He arrived yesterday and was told that he may be court-martialed for desertion.

"That makes no difference," he replied. "I want to get back."

He is now held at the training station pending disposal of his case.

THE TRUTH!

MACLAY HOYNE, STATE'S ATTORNEY OF CHICAGO, who sent the Syndicate of Clairvoyants and fake seers to the penitentiary, also was present at a private showing of "Beware of Strangers" and is quoted in the film titles thusly: "We know the actual cases with names to prove the blackmail syndicate has fleeced victims of more than a million dollars within recent months. The clairvoyants, fake bookmakers and blackmailers have a perfect organization with recognized chiefs and hundreds of 'steerers' whose business it is to comb the country for 'suckers'."

There is a warning in every line of this story which the public should know and heed." It was Clarence who laid bare the greatest and most organized criminals in the world—known as the International Syndicate.

JUDGE SCULLY UNFOLDS RESULT OF SOCIAL EVIL

Conditions at Psychopathic Hospital Told Postal Clerks' Auxiliary.

The psychopathic hospital—its defects, improvements, and future—was presented by Judge Scully to the women's auxiliary of the Chicago Postoffice Clerks' union yesterday in the Masonic temple. The latter life in the big $500,000 building at Wood and Harrison streets was begun with completeness by the county judges.

The supply of melancholy patients at the rate of 100 a week came from two sources, alcohol and the social disease, according to Judge Scully. Children from 8 months to persons 90 years old were straightjacketed and sent to the institutions at Dunning, Elgin, and Kankakee every week, he said.

2,800 Defective by Heredity. "There are 2,800 feeble minded children in Lincoln paying for the sins of their fathers," said Judge Scully. "This is the only institution in Illinois for them, and Chicago parents must spend $7 for railroad fare and lose at least two days to visit their children there. In Oak Forest there are fifty-eight beautiful little children with defective brains to send away."

"You would be surprised at the ungratefulness of the modern child also toward the parent. On Fridays I try the pauper cases. One Friday six sons were present and each stoutly refused to contribute $2 a month to the comfort of their aged parents who had lost their mental balance. The father was 85 and the mother 83. I sent two of the sons to jail before the rest got their senses and gave up the monthly tax in the support of the aged couple."

Keeps Girl from Suicide. There was mentioned Roberta Minto, 20, she of the "hidden name" in which the newspapers had taken a great interest. "A man connected with a large automobile company took her out of the Psychopathic hospital to be a sister to her," said Judge Scully. "She is back now. She is morally the worst girl I ever knew, although nothing is wrong with her mentally. She threatens to commit suicide as soon as we let her out. We don't want her to do that, so we keep her."

A plan for a private care for melancholy patients, to run to the door of the Psychopathic hospital to convey the insane to Dunning, Elgin, and Kankakee without a change and unobserved by the curious, was outlined. The car would cost $10,000. The track could be laid at a cost of $50,000, according to Leonard Burby, president of the surface line. "This plan has already been passed by the city council," said Judge Scully.

Cheering Influences Added. Two pianos, eight violins, newspapers, pictures without glass and wires are cheering the insane since Judge Scully took his seat on the bench. "I sent out decks of cards to the patients last Wednesday and all the decks were missing by Thursday. I suspect the attendants at the hospital are having some surprising games since," said the judge.

Negro Institute Head Talks. The Rev. A. Eugene Thomson, D. D., principal of the Lincoln Institute for Negroes of Lincoln Ridge, Ky., spoke yesterday before the count down of the First Congregational church of Evanston at the foundation and work of the institution.

SAVED BY CORSET

Woman Heroine for Husband's Sake Will Not Die of Bandit Shot.

Mrs. Julia Veeck.

MRS. JULIA VEECK, who was shot by a robber when trying to protect her husband, will live, according to the latest news from the Sheridan Park hospital. Three robbers entered Mr. Veeck's grocery at 2701 North Racine avenue Saturday night, brandished revolvers, and demanded money.

Mrs. Veeck, fearing her husband would be shot, threw a metal scale weight at them. One fired at Mrs. Veeck, and all ran as soon as she fled. The bullet penetrated the right side, and, according to word from the hospital, it is probable that her corset saved her life.

"It is the German blood in her," said Veeck, "that makes her so brave."

SOCIAL CENTERS BADLY MANAGED, BOARD IS TOLD

Individual supervision of community centers, instead of joint supervision, vocational guidance and school lunches, is urged in a communication signed by twenty-one men and women interested in social center development, which the board of education will receive today.

The letter also recommends that a civil service examination be held to fill the position of supervisor. Supt. John D. Shoop has recommended appointment of Dudley Hayes, a former school principal, without merit test, and this recommendation has been approved by the school management committee and is now pending before the board.

It would be unwise to intrust the $100,000 appropriated for the development of community centers to one who is not an expert on social centers, according to the letter, which points to "the waste of money and precious opportunity under two administrations," as an example of the lack of results obtained by unexpert supervision.

Among the signers of the letter are: Allan Hobson, Thomas W. Allinson, Mrs. Grace Abbott, Mrs. Robert F. Bates, Mrs. Marian Ward Cooley, Mrs. William F. Dummer, Mrs. Franklin Leavitt, James Mullerbach, and Miss Amelia Sears.

MAKE NEW FUEL TO MEET CHICAGO COAL SHORTAGE

Tar-Chemical Mixture Is Cheaper and Better, Rental Men Claim.

Artificial fuel was brought into use by apartment building owners yesterday as a means of defeating the coal famine. One building on the south side was heated entirely with the fuel during the day and others are to be supplied as soon as arrangements for manufacturing the commodity can be made.

The fuel consists of a mixture of tar and chemicals, according to Louis T. Orr of the Rental Agents' association. It is produced in blocks two and a half inches square, and is similar to a fuel being used in Germany to circumvent a coal famine.

Costs Less than Coal. "The heat units of the artificial product are such as to make it far cheaper than coal," said Mr. Orr, "and we believe we can manufacture it at a cost less than coal has been at any time in several years."

Checkers and investigators for the rental agents were busy all day in the railroad yards for the purpose of finding cars loaded with coal for apartment buildings and getting it to delivery stations. Other checkers were sent to the yards in Cincinnati, Columbus, Portsmouth, and Toledo. Messages received by Mr. Orr from them last night stated that over 10,000 cars of coal destined for Chicago had been found in traffic blockades in Ohio.

With warmer weather this week we will be able to pull through, but if a cold wave sweeps down on us many people will freeze."

Letters have been sent by the rental agents to every apartment house janitor in the city urging that the coal supply be conserved in every way possible.

Hear Federal Reports.

District Attorney Clynne and Chief Investigator Hinton G. Clabaugh held a conference in the afternoon where reports of federal investigators relative to the coal shortage here were considered. Neither man would discuss the conference.

TERMS WHICH BERLIN SEEKS TO OFFER U. S.

Safety to American Ships Which Do Not Bear Contraband.

count of Americans aboard the ships of other neutrals or the ships of the allies, and to this extent would not be entertained by the president, because he insists that Germany concede the right of Americans to safe passage aboard merchantmen, even of belligerent nationality.

POINT MADE BY GERMANY. According to the German view, President Wilson, if he desires to meet Germany half way in efforts to avert war, ought to enter into a compromise arrangement for the immunity of American ships, even if he continues to refuse to recognize the legality of the new submarine blockade.

In support of this argument it is pointed out that, although the president refused to recognize the validity of the British starvation blockade of Germany, he permitted the state department to enter informally and privately into arrangements with the British authorities for the passage without molestation of cargoes that were not contraband of war.

In that way the president, while not recognizing the British blockade, allowed the allies to carry out their plans with a minimum of inconvenience to Americans. Germany cannot understand why the president should not enter into informal and private arrangements with Berlin to obtain safe passage for American ships and thus allow the Teutonic powers to carry out their plans for starving the allies with a minimum of inconvenience to Americans.

Munition Ships Peril. The reply of the administration to this contention is that the German blockade, which involves the sacrifice of American lives, can not be dealt with as leniently as the British blockade, which involves only the sacrifice of American property and profits. Moreover, it is pointed out that arrangements for the safe passage of American ships would not afford Americans a minimum of inconvenience, for Americans on other ships would still find their safety jeopardized.

The president has indicated that he would quickly invoke warlike measures if the Germans were to sink an American ship without warning, but that he dislikes exceedingly to involve the nation in conflict over the killing of Americans aboard belligerent merchantmen carrying war munitions. There are many administration officials who believe, therefore, that Germany intends to be exceedingly careful not to sink American ships.

This is one reason that the president is hesitating to authorize the American line to arm its ships against submarines, for it is conceived that such action might determine the Germans to give American ships no quarter at all.

British Bar All Women.

Although the president has refused to take steps to prevent Americans from passing through the submarine zone even aboard American ships, it was stated at the British embassy tonight that there will be no exception to this rule except in the case of the imperative necessity of a woman to join her family abroad.

It was admitted that the intent is to prevent so far as possible the sacrifice of the lives of women and children, an incident that might precipitate an overwhelming demand for war in this country.

If an American ship should be sunk without warning there is little doubt that the president would at once ask congress to authorize the employment of armed force to protect American ships in the war zones. Such ships would be armed to repel submarines, and possibly would be conveyed by American destroyers or other naval vessels.

Let the People Decide

The City of Chicago has at last taken up its difficult and complicated transportation problem with a determination to find a solution which will provide for its present needs and for its future growth.

Three eminent engineers, William Barclay Parsons, Consulting Engineer in charge of designing and supervising work in connection with New York subways; Robert Ridgway, Chief Engineer of the Public Utilities Commission of New York for the First District, and Bion J. Arnold, Chairman of the Board of Supervising Engineers, Chicago Traction, constituting the Chicago Traction and Subway Commission, were employed by the city on behalf of the people, and after devoting nearly an entire year to the investigation of this question made their report.

The report presented by these highly qualified experts is one of far-reaching importance to the people of Chicago. It provides for a vast increase in traction facilities, outlines a comprehensive plan, and recommends certain enabling legislation which will be needed to make the plan operative.

It is announced that the Chicago City Council will recommend to the State Legislature the enactment of such laws as will be necessary to enable the city to proceed with the plan submitted by the Traction and Subway Commission.

Thus the matter stands at present. It is vitally important that the transportation problem shall be solved correctly. The people, not the traction companies, will decide the question.

Therefore, the public should be fully informed concerning the action that is recommended.

For the purpose of placing the facts clearly before the people, with whom the decision is to rest, we propose to discuss these questions while they are pending.

To prevent any misunderstanding as to our attitude, we think it best to state the position of the Surface Lines on the following fundamental questions:

- 1. Referendum. We believe the ordinance covering this matter should be submitted to a referendum vote. Let the people decide.
- 2. Right of City to Purchase. We believe the right should be reserved to the City to purchase the properties at any time at an agreed valuation.
- 3. Home Rule. We believe that Chicago, through the City Council, should be given adequate power to control and regulate its street railway service.
- 4. Regulation of Service. We believe that the most important factor from the standpoint of the public is intelligent supervision and regulation of the service.
- 5. Unification. We believe the best service can be given the public through a unification of the existing surface and elevated lines, supplemented where necessary by the construction of subways.
- 6. Franchise Period. We believe that the City should be given the power to grant a franchise for a period long enough and on terms fair enough to enable the Companies to obtain the money necessary to provide an adequate transportation system for the City.
- 7. Enabling Legislation. We believe the City, through its City Council, should make every effort to obtain enabling legislation at Springfield giving to the City home rule, adequate power of regulation over its street railway service, the right to grant a franchise for a period long enough to enable this great proposition to be financed, and the right to the Companies, subject to the consent of the City, to consolidate these properties for the purpose of unified operation.

We submit the above for the thoughtful consideration of the public.

Today We Honor the Memory of ABRAHAM LINCOLN

"I am glad I made the late race. It gave me a hearing on the great and durable question of the age, which I could have had in no other way; and though I now sink out of view, and shall be forgotten, I believe I have made some marks which will tell for the cause of civil liberty long after I am gone."

The humility of this greatest of all Americans! Today schools and other institutions are closed in his honor and people in high places go to his writings for guidance and inspiration.

This Store invites the children out of school today, and their parents and teachers, to spend part of the holiday here.

Arts and crafts of strange countries, rare paintings and needlework, are here to broaden our knowledge of faraway peoples—an education more liberal than was possible in this country in Lincoln's day.

Gabrielle Chanel of Paris created the model shown at the right, its upright collar, front facing and belt are cleverly designed in one piece, covered with a hand-darning stitch to match the deep cuffs and band at the hem.

Also of the beautiful Georgetown comes the Coat at the left, its large collar, cuffs and skirt borders embroidered in an exquisite taupe color.

The extreme smartness accorded satin Coats makes noteworthy the lovely models in white satin for Southern and Summer wear. Sixth Floor, North Room, State Street.

Women's New Costumes

Fashioned of Wool Jersey and Printed Silk Crepe

The use of wool jersey with rich, lustrous satins produces Costumes so chic they will be chosen for afternoon and shopping wear. One is illustrated at the right, with plaited skirt, cuff facings, collar and front facings of wool jersey. The Russian blouse bodice is of satin. Price $45.

Printed silk crepe enhanced with hand-embroidered collar and cuffs of exquisite quality produces the afternoon Costume at the left. Crepe chiffon is applied in overskirt effect from pockets without which few Frocks are considered complete. Price, $65.

Sixth Floor, South Room.

Women's Sheer Blouses

Anticipate Spring in Their Fresh New Styles

Seldom have lovelier Blouses been shown than those which are daily being added to an already large assortment of seasonable styles. For the brightening up of the Winter suit, or a fitting accompaniment to the Spring tailleur, such Blouses are decidedly appropriate.

At $2.75—Blouse of Georgetown crepe, whose collar and cuffs are edged with Fillet pattern lace, has embroidery designs on the fronts and a finely tucked vest, banded with the Georgetown crepe. At the right.

At $5—Blouse of sheer handkerchief linen, with wide plaits at front and back, set-on pocket, and fastenings of white pearl buttons. Severely and excellently tailored—ideal for sports and suit wear. Shown at the left.

Sixth Floor, Middle Room.

At $45—of excellent quality navy and black serge, bound around the collar and cuffs and on the hip pieces with silk braid. The over-collar is of oyster white silk of rough weave. Shown at the right.
